PAYEQUITY NOW

NZEI TE RIUROA

As Early Childhood Teachers and staff we nurture children's learning at the most crucial time in their education. Yet we're some of the lowest paid people in New Zealand.

Today we're putting an end to being undervalued and underpaid, just because our work has historically been done by women.

We're making a historic claim for pay equity for people working in ECE.

Teachers and staff are joining forces from all over the country, from private and community run centres, in an unprecedented show of strength and unity.

For many of us, particularly in private centres, this is the first opportunity to come together to fight for fair pay.

Aged care workers won huge 20 to 40 percent pay rises, funded by the Government.

Whether you just want to receive confidential updates on the pay equity fight, or be one of the hundreds to put their name to a claim, join us, and join in!
